Joe & Melissa, I'm so saddened to hear of your son's passing. Know he is with God and everlasting happiness. There are no words that can heal a parent's heart. This is not how life is supposed to go. No parent should have to go through this. Pray each day for peace. I will keep you in my thoughts and prayers. Please call me if you need to talk. I wish I was up there to hold you, Joe. I'm so, so sorry. God bless you and your family and God speed to your dear son, Corey. And to Lois and Lori..... I'm so sorry, old friends. Please, please call me when you feel up to it. My love and continued prayers to all of you..... God Bless!

“ Corey I remember playin basketball with you as a little kid in the bitty ball gym at the p.a.l ! You were always my go to dude if I didn't have the shot! I loved you like a brother! An when I was in rehab an I came home on a visit an my parents told me that you told them that you wanted to be like me that that went straight to my heart! I'm crying as I'm writing this, it hurts but I know your watching over me an always will, I love you so much Corey, that smile Of yours can't get out of my head an never will, you were such a great person! Man oh man do I wish I was there to change the thoughts in your head at that rough moment, I would of done anything bro ! I love you with all my heart, rest easy up there my boy <3

“ Corey and I every time we said goodbye after hanging out said kisses boo. I never said it to anyone else and that will rest with him. Never failed even if we forgot one of us called the other and said it. Always made me smile no matter how bad of a day it was. It's making me smile now. Kisses boo. Love you
