Rest in Peace Debbie. I met Debbie in 1988 when she started dating my brother Michael, now their both gone just 5 yrs. apart and at the same young age of 56. So unreal. I'll never forget her and her sweet giggling laughter.

This pretty picture of Debbie was in my brother Michael's wallet. They were together for 27 years.

“ Its has been many years since the last time I saw Debbie. Debbie was always sweet and thoughtful. I am sadden by the new of losing a cousin. At least Debbie is in a much better place and at piece.

“Deb and I grew up in the neighborhood together, and were great friends since we met. We were known as the “DEBS”-always together, always up to doing something goofy and endlessly laughing all the way. I will miss you my friend, and hope you are flying with the angels today. Deb

“I remember as kids when how we all would play "Hide and go seek"? If it was nice out or "Parcheesi" or "Monopoly" or something like that when it was winter. ... Deb was little then and was always so shy but? I remember my mom would be sometimes talk to her and she would come out of her room. They were good memories. I loved my little cousin. Times were so simple and innocent back then.
