“ Judith and I have been friends ever since I met her when she lived in Broad Channel, I was 28 and she was 19. She was the resident Hippy of a very conservative Island and blue color community. She was my sister's age who lived in Germany and she became my lifeline and kindred spirit while I raised 3 boys with my husband. She introduced me to dress rehearsals for Broadway shows, concerts and free plays in central park and met my family in Germany; and when my husband and I were in Paris we got together with Lauri and Ali and had dinner with them. She has been my best friend and I will miss her terribly.
