“ Christmas was Karen's favorite holyday. This was the first Christmas without her. We were together 50 years and she was the LOVE of my life. She is no longer in pain and that calms my heart. "Apart for now but always with us" is on her stone. Time will heal my yearning heart. Love You Baby.

“ Aunt Karen - so insanely charismatic and such a great storyteller. I'll be reminded of you daily as words and phrases you made famous in my mind are still uttered by me today. I won't ever struggle to find fond memories of you. Love you and miss you so.

“ I’ve known my Aunt Karen my whole life - I can remember her changing my diaper one random day during a visit she must have made to my nearby parents house and just treating me like the cute little baby I was. From there the memories but more importantly cheerful times accumulated rapidly. Just about every way I turn in my mind I picture Aunt Karen and the rest of our family having good times or at least a solid sense of humor about the occasion. While I can’t match her wit, she still taught me a lot about having fun and having it with family - and thanks to her I’m passing on some of those lessons to my children today. We love and miss you. Reading some of these other memories and messages about meeting again in the future has me worried that Aunt Karen is going to crank the AC way up in heaven - Somebody pack me a sweater when that time comes.

“ I met Karen and her husband Eddie before I even met my husband, Bob. Karen and Eddie thought they’d check me out before Bob came home from the service. They’d race to N.J. To visit me, and I do mean race. I think Karen’s fastest time was 20 minutes from Brooklyn to Ramsey. In later years Karen would always laugh at how hard it was to understand my accent when she first met me. It’s almost gone now. Mostly I want to say that Karen was a sister to me. You’ll never know how much i love you and am going to miss you. God bless you and thank you for everything. Sisters Forever.

“ Karen was my dear cousin. We lived two blocks away from her in Greenpoint, Brooklyn and we saw her a lot. Karen introduced my sister and I to the music of the day, and she would talk to us, and love us. Karen was our favorite baby sitter. My sister and I were so happy when Karen came to baby sit because we could sleep on the floor in front of the TV set, which was so much fun. Rest in peace Karen, and one day we will all be together again. - Glenn

“ I will always remember my cousin Karen as the warm & wonderful girl who made me smile. When she babysat me & Glenn as kids, we had “campouts” on the living room floor, watching TV way too late. We would bring Sheppy to the roof at Java Street, and sing Diana Ross out loud on the microphone from the 3rd floor window! She would beat all the guys racing in her Chevelle and they loved it! She married the best guy ever and loved her family with all her heart. Her loving memories will hug my heart like a warm blanket. Please Karen, come visit me in my dreams- I love you!
