“ I met Lorraine once when she went to the tricky tray with Beth and me. Lorraine was very sweet and I am very fortunate to have met her. I found out that she had a great sense of humor, can do spirit, and love of tacky holiday decorations!

“ All of our love and prayers today and for the days ahead. So many memories of Maw Maw from Christmas on nautilus to Christmas in Jefferson.... Sleepovers due to hurricanes and listening to her great olden stories.... Always admired her eloquence and how she was put together with her matching outfits and jewellery. A lovely woman who is in our hearts and memories forever.

“ My mom was an incredibly generous soul. She sacrificed so I could go to college. She would have to love to have traveled more but her anxiety held her back. She loved to read stories about far off places. So if you would like to do something to honor her, please donate to the Marietta College -Study Abroad Grant. Thank you.

*Beth, I just read your mother's obituary on line in the Charleston Gazette. Please except my deepest sympathy. Your mother was a lovely lady in every way. Your parents were wonderful people. They were so supportive of your education, and me as your third grade teacher at St. Francis of Assisi School in St. Albans. They raised a wonderful daughter. You and your family are in my prayers. Fondly,
